

ROUTING PLACES MAGIC CITIES OF THE WEST

Tired Business Man's Drift of Fancy Building Them.

He and Family Take Vacations
De Luxe in Colorado.

BOOSTS RAILROAD TRAVEL
Vacation Resorts Seem to Dot Mountains Over Night.

Little Known Lakes of Yesterday Now Widely Known.

In the summer, about this time of year, the fancy of the tired business man turns to thoughts of mountain trout, shady nooks and a mountain-side camp where he can fight chiggers, mosquitoes and between times let the sun burn the top of his head, devoid of hair, until it puffs up in little blisters that make his stenographer giggle. That suits his fancy in summer just the same as his yearning turns to the front seat in a burlesque show where he kids himself into believing he is having the time of his life and becoming wise in addition to being fat.

And the fancy of the tired business man which affects him in summer is breaking all records for passenger traffic on western railroads this summer. Every train, Santa Fe, Rock Island and Union Pacific, passing through Topeka, carries scores of outing parties and individuals to the summer resorts in the Rocky mountains. The summer resorts of the west, there are hundreds of them not including the old established ones, are rivaling the boom towns of years ago. Before the war broke out and submarines made ocean travel unpleasant, the man who went to an American resort was pressed for time or money or both. Now, it is quite the thing to take a jaunt to Colorado, California, the north woods or similar places and camp bungee out in the open, you know, and rough it de luxe.

De luxe outing is all the adjective implies. For truth, it is whistling in exclusive circles of the West and one Topeka woman took two maids and a cook when she accompanied her husband, a tired business man, on a camping trip in Colorado.

Colorado is the favorite pleasure spot for Topekans this summer. Lakes in the Colorado mountains, which only a few years ago, have been discovered, renovated, and advertised along with camping and bungalow sites on their shores, and the railroads are doing the biggest Colorado business in their history.

One Topeka railroad, the Santa Fe, has advertised that a two-weeks' vacation trip to Colorado costs only $50. The price is attractive and the mountains are said to be worth it. Of course, it depends on how you feel, if a trip only costs $50, but it has been proved it can be done. The Rock Island and Union Pacific have also turned loose a flood of literature on American summer resorts, particularly Colorado and adjacent states.

Here are a few of the camping and outing places in that state: Gunnison river, Pinyon Fan river, Manitou, Ute Pass resorts, Mt. McClellan, Palmer Lake, Clear Lake and Platte Canyons, Stonewall valley, Glenwood Springs, Grand Lake, Woods lake, Twin Lakes, Buena Vista and scores of other places.

White Men Encouraged to Retire by Pension Offer.

Manila, Aug. 5.—Some of the biggest shifts in the personnel of the government of the Philippine in recent years are now occurring through resignations or retirements, opening a number of executive positions where the Filipinos, in accordance with the policy of the present administration, Harry T. Edwards, director of agriculture, has retired, after fifteen years of service. He, like a number of others, has taken advantage of the retirement act passed at the last session of the insular legislature whereby government employees of long service may retire with a pension of a year's full pay. He is to be succeeded by Adriano Hernandez, one of the most progressive Filipinos in the government service who for the last year has been an assistant director of the bureau of agriculture.

Stephen Bonal has resigned from his post as a member of the board of utility commissioners. His place is to be filled by Dr. Bernard Herstein, insular collector of customs for the past three years, who, in turn is to be succeeded by John S. Stanley for nine years deputy collector of customs. The latter vacancy is to be filled by the appointment of Vicente Aldana, the first Filipino to be given an important executive position in the bureau of customs.

First in Bureau of Education.
Another shakeup has occurred in the bureau of education owing to the retirement of Frank L. Crone as director and the appointment of the assistant director, Walter M. Marquardt, to succeed him. This makes possible the promotion of a Filipino, Jose Escalator, who has been a city attorney, to be assistant director of education, this being the first instance of a Filipino holding an important executive position in the bureau of education.

The most notable instance of the Filipinization of the government is the appointment of Joaquin de Luna, former member of the assembly as the governor of a mountain province inhabited almost entirely by the so-called wild tribes, or the head hunters, who have been a source of trouble for many years experience. Each district will retain its sub-governor, an American, but the Filipino will have chief authority and it is believed he is embarking upon a difficult task.

BRIDGE OVER KAW History of Building Across River by P. I. Bonebrake.

Papuan Rope Ferry First Used by French Half Breed.

BRIDGE ON COTTONWOOD PILES

Didn't Take Long for High Water to Carry It Away.

Pontoon Structure Also Lost in Rush of Waters.

"The discussion about highways at the lunch of the Commercial club this week brought to mind some incidents connected with the early efforts to keep and maintain the main highway between the Missouri river and New Mexico via Topeka," said P. I. Bonebrake today. "The north bank of the river was the south boundary of the Kaw Half Breed Indians reservation. The Kansas river was for a time the north boundary line of Shawnee county."

"The method of crossing the river was by the 'Papuan' rope ferry managed by Louis Pappan, a Frenchman of the Half Breed tribe. The highway between Leavenworth and New Mexico and the far west was by way of Topeka, and a very important matter to its development. All United States troops and supplies for Fort Union and Mexican trade came this way."

"Two other points were discussing new bridges and Topeka had to be built. The rope ferry was inadequate. We must have a bridge. After many efforts a contract was made with a firm, Jones, Kidney & Co., to erect a wooden bridge at a cost of $10,000 payable in county script. Timber was abundant and free. The bridge was built on cottonwood piles and was completed and opened for traffic on the first of May, 1888."

"Now the people were happy, but their joy was of short duration. In July, 1888, the winds and floods came and Kansas river, the Shunganunga and Soldier river, went out of the banks and on July 17, the bridge was lifted from its place and floated away."

"When the bridge went down several regiments of United States troops with government supplies were lodged on the north bank, and the people appealed to Secretary J. B. Floyd of the war department for assistance. Floyd was too busy sending soldiers, arms and munitions of war to the south in anticipation of the coming Civil war. The unpreparedness of the government at that time through Floyd's treachery cost us the Battle of Bull Run."

"The next effort was the construction of the pontoon bridge, which lasted a while but a flood came and it was carried away by its predecessor. 'Next came an iron bridge built by private parties, a toll bridge, which was destroyed by a flood. The toll bridge lasted until the present steel-cement bridge was erected."

"We do not feel anxious when the river is at flood tide now. We believe we are secure. Of course we have passed the period where we depend so much on public highways, as the railroads do most of the traffic in travel and freight. Looking back upon our troubles of early days show a good deal of faith and courage on the part of the people who were determined to make a city of Topeka."

WILL TRY IT AGAIN

Tony's First Attempt to See the World
Ends in Grief.

Little 16-year-old Tony Alberico of Phillipsburg, Kansas, has been in this country but three years but he has absorbed enough of the American spirit to demand a vacation after toll.

His error came when he tried to stretch the increment resulting from four weeks toll, in the harvest fields, over four weeks of leisure plus railway fare to Missouri and back. He was left stranded in Topeka, 200 miles from home, but the Providence association came to the rescue and provided him transportation back to Phillipsburg.

"I will now go back to my uncle's at Phillipsburg," the little Italian announced. "When I have work some more I will take another vacation. American country is interesting and I want to see it all."

"Next time I will count my money better."

FLOOD VICTIMS 28

Entire Families, Two With Eight Children Each, Swept to Their Death.

Middleboro, Ky., Aug. 5.—Reports from the Blair creek district now fix the death list in flood at twenty-eight. The dead are:

ROBERT JOHNSON and wife. MINTA and LILLIE WILEY, Monroe, Mich., granddaughters of Crockett Edmonds.

MRS. CROCKETT EDMONDS and three children.

POTTER WALKER, wife and eight children.

BUCK FERGUSON, wife and eight children.

Those drowned lived in a zone a few miles long. Investigation further down creek showed none was killed but property damage is estimated at $10,000. Two flour mills, two storehouses, five dwellings, crops and live stock were lost. Trains on the Southern railway between Middleboro and Knoxville were only able to get within ten miles of each other.

WILL NURSE TEUTONS

American Red Cross to Re-establish Hospitals in Central Europe.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Renewal of American Red Cross aid to the Teutons is being awaited by the central powers permission for the re-establishment within their border of hospital units from the United States.

Great Britain's refusal to let supplies for the wounded through the blockade unless consigned to the American organization, caused Red Cross headquarters here to decide to put physicians and nurses again in the Teutonic countries.

Request for this privilege has gone through the state department to Berlin and Vienna. American Red Cross units were withdrawn from the central empire last fall when the society's funds became exhausted.

CLOWNS HARD WORKERS

Hardest Job of All in Barnum & Bailey Circus, Here, Wednesday.

Although few know it and fewer believe it the clowns with the Barnum & Bailey circus here Wednesday, Aug. 3, are the hardest workers with its vast army of entertainers. The American clown and the European clown will quickly tell the circus patron that the hardest job of all is to make the people laugh.

TO STOP CHOLERA

Eradication of Disease in Kansas Being Accomplished.

Organization Formed by Experts of Agricultural College.

Manhattan, Kan., Aug. 5.—Hog cholera eradication associations will mean the ultimate elimination of the dreaded hog cholera in Kansas, in the opinion of Dr. F. S. Schoenleber, professor of veterinary medicine in the Kansas State Agricultural college. "Since starting the eradication work, obstacles seemingly unsurmountable have been passed and if the money were available it could easily be said that cholera would be practically eradicated from the state in a short time," says Doctor Schoenleber.

"These associations are made up of central officers and a vice president for each township. The vice president appoints one man for each four sections of land and must meet members of the association. In case of an outbreak of cholera or sickness among hogs, it is reported at once to one of these men, who in turn notifies the veterinarian, who goes out and vaccinates, quarantines and gives direction for cleaning up."

"The veterinarians of the counties which have these organizations met at Manhattan with the college officials and adopted a uniform method of handling hog cholera problems. Any man in the organization may have his hogs vaccinated at a cost of one and one-half cents per cubic centimeter of serum administered."

"This method is working out successfully and other counties are expected to get into the game. Records show that nearly 6,000 hogs have been vaccinated in Nemaha county alone within the last three months. The college has kept a man there directing the work and looking after the sanitary conditions."

"Many of the farmers will not come in until they have an outbreak of cholera, which makes organization more difficult. The most successful way of handling the problem will be to have funds enough so that the college can have a man on the job to help clean up and disinfect, the idea being that the serum will eradicate the cholera from the hogs, but will not eradicate it from the premises. Sanitary conditions are important because of young pigs, which should not be vaccinated before they weigh 50 or 60 pounds."

COOL HOMES OF SICK PEOPLE

Pittsburg Fire Chief Sprinkles Water on Houses and in Streets.

Pittsburg, Kan., Aug. 5.—Tom Howe, the veteran chief of the Pittsburg fire department, is one of the most popular men in Pittsburg now. He is the chief of the "rain maker" for the city. Ten days ago Mayor William Lanyon and Chief Howe conceived the idea of cooling off the premises of a widely known resident who was ill by sprinkling the street in front of his home and also sprinkling the house.

The experiment was such a success that similar operations were conducted at the home of several other persons, who were ill. The firemen sprinkled at least twenty of the seven sick persons scattered over the city. In addition the other houses around those in which persons were ill were sprinkled to give the neighborhood a cooling. The list is growing each day and Chief Howe expects to make care of everybody. The city owns the networks and no water are attached to the fire hydrants.

Pittsburg has had only .31 of an inch of rain in thirty-five days, nearly all July 4.

Atchison, Kan., Aug. 5.—Joe Van Horn, in charge of W. C. Linville's sandboat, picked up a float in the river near the mouth of Whiskey creek, south of town. According to Coroner Robert Dickey the body had been in the water over a week. It was in a very badly decomposed state.

The only means of identification was a postcard addressed to Fred Meyer of Main street, in St. Joe, reposing him to be present at a meeting of Pochontas lodge, No. 70, of the Redmen on Friday, June 12. The card was signed by E. J. Graves, chief of records.

25 YEARS AGO IN TOPEKA

From the columns of THE TOPEKA STATE JOURNAL

August 5, 1891.
The old Bender tavern might be taken to Chicago for an exhibition at the fair. Chicago seems to want that kind of a collection.

The sub-alliance farmers have pretty generally decided to keep their wheat in accordance with the instructions received from the Alliance headquarters in Washington.

Miss Bertha Knowles entertained a few of her friends at her home south of the city last evening.

Last Saturday ex-Senator John J. Ingalls lectured in the nation called ground at Port Richmond near New York city on the Social and Political Problems of Our Second Century. Mr. Ingalls said: "As this is a prohibition locality and I am representative of the most temperate prohibition states, I shall give you my impressions of the problem of the century and my views on dealing with it. Myself am a prohibitionist in practice. That is, I never take a drink except when I want it. But I am keenly alive to the terrible dangers that threaten civilization from the use of intoxicating liquors. I had my way I would eradicate absolutely the sale of intoxicating liquors from the country."

"But there is not a municipal corporation in the state whose expenses are not paid by a tax on the liquor. In the town of Atchison, where I reside, the entire expenses of the corporation are paid by a tax on the liquor. A fine on those who are known by the authorities as engaged in the unlawful sale of liquor."

In the state, numbering eight hundred sixty-one, Topeka being first.

The camp was organized and the charter secured July 16, 1888. The headquarters were then at Fulton, Illinois and now it is at Rock Island, Illinois.

It claims the distinction of having one of the best drill teams in the state also of having one of the best two bands in the state, the other being at Larned. Altogether in the twenty-eight years since the organization of the lodge there has been $4 deaths, and in fifty-nine years $78,500 have been paid to widows and orphans of deceased members.

Gorham for treasurer, attorney and clerk of the district court, where there were contests. The successful candidates were Leigh Perry for treasurer; A. Schulman for county attorney, and Helen M. Stowell for clerk of the district court.

Lakin, Kan., Aug. 5.—The West Central Kansas Baptist association will meet in the Baptist church house here Monday evening. Rev. E. G. Stout of Garden City will preside at the association sermon at 8 o'clock.

The association will be in session through Tuesday, followed by a Sunday school and Young People's convention on Wednesday.

There are twelve churches in this association. It is expected that the church will send a full delegation. State Mission Secretary J. T. Crawford, Sunday School and Young People's Secretary J. M. Gurley of Topeka, and other state and district workers will be in attendance.

COURT WILL HAVE TO CAMP

Trial of Alleged Sheriff Slayer Will Be Held Under Difficulties.

Dodge City, Kan., Aug. 5.—Don Van Wormer, accused of the murder of Sheriff Martin Moore of Morton county, will not ask a change of venue. It is understood. If his trial is held in Morton county, it must be held at Richfield, the county seat, which is without a railroad and has no hotel.

The county has no jail and the custody of the prisoner will be a serious matter. It will also be hard to keep the jury together, and at the same time free from possible influence from outsiders. It probably will be necessary to erect tents at Richfield to take care of the witnesses and court officials during the trial.

KANSANS MARRIED IN CAVE

Utica Couple Went to Manitou, Col., for Unique Ceremony.

Colorado Springs, Col., Aug. 5.—Once again the "Bridal Chamber" in the Cave of the Winds has been called into service. A Kansas couple, J. C. Wheatcroft and Miss Vera Barr, both of Utica, made the trip to Manitou especially to be married in the famous room of the cave.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. T. Morgan of the Southern Methodist church of Colorado Springs. Relatives attended the couple during the ceremony and all the details of a church wedding were included.

Many weddings have been performed in the cave, and this is the first for the last several years.

BREAK UP FLOATERS' CAMP

Five Hundred Chickens Stolen While "Bum Convention" Was in Session.

Salina, Kan., Aug. 5.—The big movers' camp east of St. John's military academy which has caused residents in this vicinity a great deal of trouble in the past month, is broken up. The last movers left after being warned by Sheriff Anderson that they must leave the county or rent a place to stay.

Visitors to the camp say that it has contained from fifty to one hundred persons the past month and has served as headquarters for men who have been working in the harvest fields of the district. People who live near the camp declare they have lost over 500 chickens while the movers have been there.
